

Abha Nigam

December 3, 1955-February 25, 2016 Abha Nigam was born December 3, 1955 in New Delhi, India to Ioku Mal Khemani and Kamla Bai Khemani. She is survived by her husband, Shilender Nigam; her son, Sumit Nigam; her daughter, Neha Dillard and her husband, Jason Dillard; and by her grandchildren, Khemani Gail Dillard and Lokhan Dillard. She is also survived by numerous brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles, and cousin, most of whom reside in India. Mom had a bachelor's degree that she earned while she lived in India. She worked in India for a long time before moving to the United States. She worked at many companies and places in Houston, TX. She was interested in traveling and visiting many places. She gave her love and attention to her family and children. She was great at making sure they were taken care of. She was a wonderful wife, mother, and grandmother. She sacrificed a lot for her children. She was an excellent cook. She was a member of many temples and visited many religious organizations. Her son also invited her to attend Lakewood Church where he was baptized.