December 24, 1989 - February 24, 2026

Christopher Joseph Palmer, born on December 24, 1989, was a man who meant so much to so many. He was loving, supportive, and deeply loyal — the kind of person you could always count on no matter the circumstance. His presence brought comfort, laughter, and light into every room he entered.

Raised in Midland, Texas, Chris grew up with strong values that carried him through every chapter of life. Known for his quick wit and playful spirit, he was a natural class clown. His sense of humor was effortless, and his smile was contagious. Even during difficult times, he found ways to make others laugh and feel at ease. His joy was not just in humor, but in bringing happiness to the people he loved.

Music was one of his greatest loves. He had a deep appreciation for old school R&B, often filling the room with classic melodies that brought back memories and good vibes. He loved rapping and singing, expressing himself through rhythm and lyrics in a way that was uniquely his own. Whether he was playfully freestyling or passionately singing along to his favorite songs, music was how he connected, healed, and shared joy with the people around him.

Though he faced significant trauma and hardships throughout his life, he never allowed those challenges to define him. He was determined and resilient, pushing forward with strength and courage. His perseverance was a quiet inspiration to everyone around him. No matter what he endured, he never gave up.

He was talented and intelligent, with a sharp mind and a generous heart. More than anything, he had a truly good heart — compassionate, forgiving, and full of love. He cared deeply for his family and friends, always offering support, encouragement, and unwavering loyalty.

He will be remembered for his bright smile, his kind spirit, and the lasting impact he made on the lives of those fortunate enough to know him. He will be deeply missed and forever cherished.

“ One night we rode together to grandma’s house and I played 50 Cent the whole ride and you were so happy. Just riding with you and jamming to your favorite artist warmed my heart. I’m so glad you got to see me graduate college. In 2022 when I was struggling in college, your calls and letter kept me grounded. I’ll miss and love you forever.
