

Glenn Curtiss McAdams

Glenn Curtiss McAdams, Jr., age 72, of Plano died Tuesday, April 5, 2016, after a brief illness. Curtiss grew up in Whitesboro, Texas, and later attended The University of Texas and North Texas State University. He was married to his wife Jane for almost 21 years, and together they were able to travel and have so much fun. He enjoyed his retirement with friends and family, but he was absolutely crazy about his grandchildren, whom he adored. Curtiss is survived by his wife Jane; sister Sharon Hashem (Rabie); children, Kim Baker (Scott), Curtiss McAdams, Chris McAdams (Elizabeth), Robert McAdams; step-daughters Stacey Jackson (Randy), Tricia Ryan (DJ), grandchildren Miles Baker, Nathan McAdams, Victoria Castaneda (Stephan), Ashley Jackson, Allison, Hayley and Mitchell Ryan; great grandchildren Atticus and Parker Castaneda, and a huge extended family of relatives and close friends, all who adored him. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the North Texas Food Bank.
