

Lewis "Les" Earl Sisk

September 13, 1957 - October 30, 2022

Lewis "Les" Earl Sisk was born on Friday, September 13, 1957, and passed away on Sunday, October 30, 2022, in Richardson, Texas. He was born in Honolulu, Hawaii to Albert and Gloria Sisk. His father was in the Navy, so growing up involved the family relocating often.

He graduated from George Stone Vocational High School in 1975, learning to be an auto mechanic. Les carried on his career as an automotive mechanic for over 45 years.

He married the love of his life and best friend Georganna Gibson Sisk on February 22, 1981. They were married for 41 years and together had two beautiful children: Michael Franklin Sisk and Cheyenne Marie (Sisk) Dollery.

Les could be stubborn but had a huge caring heart. He always had a soft spot for his grandkids: Katheryn Elaine Sisk and Aaron Matthew Sisk. He would immediately open up and give them the biggest smile when they were around. He was quiet and contemplative with a dry humor but would be open and expressive as he came to know you. He would famously say "That's what you get for thinking" in response to "I thought that would work". His favorite movie was Animal House and loved Classic Rock Bands, especially Rush, ZZ Top and Led Zeppelin. He would play video games, loving the Battlefield series and Diablo. His favorite place to be was out fishing with his grandkids and being on a beach, any beach would do!

Les was baptized a Lutheran as an adult.

He is preceded in death by his parents Albert Franklin and Gloria Katheryn Sisk.

He leaves behind to cherish his memory, his wife Georganna Gibson Sisk. His son Michael (Sarah) Sisk and daughter Cheyenne (JT) Dollery. His two grandchildren Katheryn and Aaron Sisk. Also, his brother Eric (Tracy) Sisk in Pensacola, Florida.
