

Nancy M. Ellsworth

Nancy M Ellsworth, 72, of Frisco died December 1, 2015 with family by her side. She was born October 15, 1943 in Fremont, OH. She married William D Ellsworth in July, 1964 and moved to Glenview, IL with their two sons in 1973. She worked in banking until she moved to the north Texas region in 2001. Not being one to just sit at home, Nancy began working shortly after her arrival to north Texas, and most recently worked in the deli department at Kroger, located in The Colony, TX. A true angler at heart, Nancy spent many hours on lakes around all of her respective homes. Animals were a big part of her joyous life, having owned and cared for dogs most of her adult life, and even a potbellied pig, named Puck. When driving around the ever-expanding north Texas area, it was common for Nancy to exclaim "hang in there buddy!" when driving past one of the few remaining ranches in the area. One of her final wishes was to have her dog Wally, who passed earlier this year, be with her on their journey in the afterlife. Nancy is survived by her father Bud Wolfe; two sons, Eric R Ellsworth of McHenry, IL and Christopher D Ellsworth of Frisco, TX; daughters-in-law Jennifer Ellsworth of McHenry, IL and Lana L Ellsworth of Frisco, TX; and four grandchildren, Alissa M Ventura of Frisco, TX, Jeremy T Ellsworth, Justin D Ellsworth, and Jemma J Ellsworth. She is also survived by her five sisters, Marcia Cross of Crossville, TN, Janet Hoffman of Lexington, SC, Diane Blue of Fremont, OH, Linda Haugh of Taylor, MI, and Sandy Shively of Sandusky, OH; brother Toby Muller of Edmond, OK; numerous nieces, nephews, family, and friends. Nancy was preceded in death by her mother, as well as her sister Carlene Astle of Grandview, ID.
