“ I worked with Ronnie when I was in my late teens, and he was in his early 20s. I wasn't sure about the spelling of his name, but his smile gave him away. He was a friend who I remember dearly. He inspired me to be all that I could be. God bless you, Ronnie.

“ Ronnie was one of the good guys. I posted the notice of his death in the Ball High class of 1966 Facebook page. Every comment of sadness included words of what a kind and nice and good and smart person he was, and handsome, too! Most of us have not seen him in over 50 years, but he is recalled with a smile and good memories. I am so sorry for your loss. I know he never changed.
