“ A favorite memory of mine is when my granny and I would sit in her bed watching America's next top model while doing each other's hair, eyebrows, and makeup. My granny played such a huge role in my confidence she always told me I was gorgeous and pushed me to get what I wanted. At times we would get so dressed up like we were going out and then just sit in the living room and watch TV just by doing that I reminded me that you can look gorgeous every day not for anyone else but just because you want to.

“ Some of my favorite memories of my grandmother the fabulous Mrs. Tina Fuller was when me and my siblings would spend the night or the weekend at her house. Every time was always like the best sleep over you could attend. She would give us things like feather boas, giant glasses, beaded necklaces and these plastic wine glasses that she would fill with Welch’s sparking ciders. She would make us chili dogs and we would watch movies in her room or in the living room. She would always fill her cabinet with snacks and goodies and plan out all our meals with a big breakfast like pancakes sausage/beacon and eggs and for lunch sandwiches and chips and cookies. I hope that when the times come I can even give half of the amazing moments my grandma gave me to my kids and grandchildren.
